

“I have found it very rewarding to work with seniors. My favorite part has been building long-lasting therapeutic relationships.”

About Mica Winchester, MD

Dr. Mica Winchester has been drawn to the sciences since she was a teenager, and she became passionate about caring for underserved populations while in college. As an internal medicine physician, Dr. Winchester says, “I have found it very rewarding to work with seniors. My favorite part has been building long-lasting therapeutic relationships.” When she is with patients, Dr. Winchester strives to make sure they feel heard and treated as equals. She’s also committed to being a life-long learner and always up for a challenge.

In Dr. Winchester’s down time, she enjoys reading, music, and travel. Her most memorable visits have been in London and Jamaica, although Dr. Winchester would love to visit South Africa one day.
