“By getting to know them, how they live, how they function, and what their priorities are, those priorities become mine, so we can achieve our mutual goals.”

About Ariacne Lopez Gonzalez, MSN, FNP-C, RN

Ariacne Lopez Gonzalez was inspired by her mother, an ICU nurse, to pursue a career in healthcare. She recalls visiting her at work and being “amazed” by everyone’s dedication. Her favorite part of being a family nurse practitioner is positively influencing patients’ lives. “By getting to know them, how they live, how they function, and what their priorities are, those priorities become mine, so we can achieve our mutual goals,” she explains. Prior to moving to the US, she worked as a physician in Cuba. She explains that seeing patients is what she was “destined to do.”

When not with patients, Ariacne Lopez Gonzalez enjoys time with her husband and daughters. She loves orchids and looks forward to their blooming every season.
