

“I experienced firsthand how nurse practitioners were involved in patient care with assessing diagnosing, and treating medical problems, and my lightbulb went off.”

About Sherhonda Fevrier, MSN, NP

Sherhonda Fevrier was influenced to pursue a career in medicine after watching her father endure medical complications. “I experienced firsthand how nurse practitioners were involved in patient care with assessing, diagnosing, and treating medical problems, and my lightbulb went off,” she explains. She loves educating patients and says her favorite part of being a nurse practitioner is seeing patients reach their goals. Sherhonda Fevrier strives to be personable and relatable. She treats patients like family and loves serving the senior population. “Seniors are fun to be around and have so many stories and life experiences to share,” she says.

When not with patients, Sherhonda Fevrier enjoys spending quality time with her family.
