

“I love to hear when people feel better in body, mind, and spirit. It's important for me that I consider a person as a whole.”

About Gigi Pereira, M.AC., L.AC.

Gigi Pereira explains, “I am very curious and interested in learning about people, what motivates them, what challenges them, and I want to help in any way I can.” This curiosity, as well as having a parent with a chronic condition, led her to pursue a career in acupuncture. “I love to hear when people feel better in body, mind, and spirit. It’s important for me that I consider a person as a whole,” she explains. She “feels blessed” to play a role in improving people’s lives. “My patients come to me with unique, individual stories that need to be heard,” she says.

In her free time, she loves spending time with her kids and playing with her dog. She also likes hiking and volunteering as a Girl Scout troop leader.
