About Nader Lamaa, MD

A high school biology class sparked Dr. Nader Lamaa's interest in cardiology. "What intrigued me most was how we could use that knowledge to impact other people's lives," he explains. He builds trust with his patients through "clear, thorough communication and honest empathy." He enjoys motivating patients and believes in personalized care. "I am here to know you as a person and to put my clinical knowledge and expertise at your service to help you lead a better, healthier life," he says. Dr. Lamaa finds it rewarding to care for the senior population and views it as a way to honor his grandmother.
