

“Seniors, a vulnerable population, need quidance and resources to maneuver through the ever-changing maze of medicine.”

About Jacqueline Hampton, MD

Growing up in rural Mississippi, Dr. Jacqueline Hampton “noticed the lack of available and accessible healthcare.” This motivated her to pursue a career as a physician. “It was my determination to make a positive influence on healthcare,” she explains. Her favorite part of being a physician is “engaging patients to be their own best caregiver.” Dr. Hampton explains, “Seniors, a vulnerable population, need guidance and resources to maneuver through the ever-changing maze of medicine.” She loves hearing her patients’ stories and working with them to help them achieve a better quality of life. “I love what I do. I love my patients,” she says.

In her free time, Dr. Hampton enjoys walking, gardening, and traveling.
