

“My door is always open, and I am happy to listen and help in any way I can.”

About Owen Morris, DPM

In high school, Dr. Owen Morris knew he wanted to make a positive difference in people’s lives through a career in healthcare. “My favorite part of podiatry is meeting new patients. There is something new and different every day,” he says. He strives to address all his patients’ questions and concerns. “Making them feel heard is the most important thing,” he says. He emphasizes the importance of preventative medicine in his practice and takes pride in advocating for the senior population. “My door is always open, and I am happy to listen and help in any way I can,” he says.

In his free time, Dr. Morris enjoys going to Sixers, Phillies, and Eagles games. He also likes cooking and relaxing with his cat.
