

“I take time to really listen to my patients and become an advocate for health.”

About Kimberly Peacock, DO

Dr. Kimberly Peacock’s passion for caring for others and her love of science, math, and technology led her to pursue a career in healthcare. “I take time to really listen to my patients and become an advocate for health,” she explains. She enjoys listening to her patients’ stories and working with them on their health journey. She explains, “Health is a journey we will take together with joint decision-making.” She finds value in examining all aspects of a person’s life. She explains, “If the patients do not have stable housing, food, and access to education, then our interventions may be futile.”

In her free time, Dr. Peacock loves spending time with her family. She also likes playing games, swimming, and enjoying the sunshine.
