

“I believe that the way to achieve great results is to empower our patients to make good decisions about their health.”

About Michel Ibrahim, MD

Dr. Michel Ibrahim is passionate about healthcare accessibility and loves working with patients on their journey to improved health. “I see the patient- doctor relationship as a team,” he explains. “I believe that the way to achieve great results is to empower our patients to make good decisions about their health,” he says. He strives to ensure all his patients receive adequate care and attention. He was particularly drawn to the senior population after losing his grandfather to a preventable condition. “The senior population are the most susceptible to be hospitalized, and I want to change that,” he says.

In his free time, Dr. Ibrahim enjoys spending time with family. He also loves photography and sports, especially soccer.
