

“I’m invested in your health. I want to help you achieve our health goals so you can continue to do the things you enjoy.”

About Linu Samuel, MD, MS, MBA

Growing up around healthcare, Dr. Linu Samuel always knew he would pursue a career in medicine. “A career in healthcare allows me to make a difference in the world. I am able to make a positive impact while having a fulfilling and enjoyable career,” he explains. Lifelong learning and building relationships with patients are his favorite parts of his profession. “A physician is a life-long learner, I have the opportunity to learn something new everyday. As a physician I also have the opportunity to learn about my patients, allowing the physician-patient relationship to grow stronger. These opportunities to learn allow me to not only grow as a physician but as a person,” he says. He cares about his patients’ concerns and goals. “I’m invested in your health. I want to help you achieve your health goals so you can continue to do the things you enjoy,” he says.

In his free time, Dr. Samuel can be found enjoying time with his family. He also loves gardening, traveling, and visiting local coffee shops.
