“I always provide patients with the space to express their needs and feel heard.”

About Cody Stayden, MSN, AGPC-C

Cody Stayden explains that he chose to pursue a career in healthcare to “make an impact on the lives of those less fortunate.” He particularly enjoys caring for his senior patients and strives to help them “extend their quality of life.” He always provides patients with the space “to express their needs and feel heard.” He is a stronger believer in “providing good health education” and considers himself “proactive with patient care.” He explains, “I think that providing education gives the patient a feeling of autonomy and motivation to make changes that benefit their lives.”

In his free time, Cody Stayden likes exercising, especially powerlifting. He also enjoys reading and spending time with friends and family.
