

“I chose this profession to be a resource for individuals and their families to receive proper healthcare while also being able to understand what their healthcare team is thinking and doing.”

About Connor Whitaker, MD

For Dr. Connor Whitaker, the best part about being a physician is “talking with patients about their daily lives and educating them on their own health to allow them to thrive.” He explains, “I chose this profession to be a resource for individuals and their families to receive proper healthcare while also being able to understand what their healthcare team is thinking and doing.” He strives to actively listen to patients and is dedicated to detecting and managing high risk diseases. “I think this helps preserve a quality of life and independence that is so important to maintain as a senior,” he says.

Dr. Whitaker loves hiking with his wife and daughter in his free time. He also enjoys swimming and practicing Brazilian Jujitsu.
