About Thanh Van, DPM

Dr. Thanh Van has wanted to help others for as long as he can remember. “I knew that by pursuing a career in podiatry, I could make a significant and lasting impact on my patients’ well-being, as well as fulfill my desire to help others,” he says. Seeing his patients successfully recover is his favorite part of his profession. He loves building long-term relationships with patients and believes in the “humanistic side of medicine.” He explains, “I always aim to be the physician who makes a living by having a positive impact on others through the values of integrity, respect, commitment, sympathy, and persistence.”

In his free time, Dr. Van likes traveling, exercising, and enjoying the outdoors. He especially loves deep sea fishing.
