

“I strive to keep you informed on your healthcare, and I will always be honest with you.”

About Jordan Boynton, FNP

Jordan Boynton’s favorite part of being a family nurse practitioner is “seeing people improve their quality of life, including their overall health as well as their functional abilities.” He believes that “building relationships improves overall health outcomes,” and considers strong communication to be key in developing relationships. “I strive to keep you informed on your healthcare, and I will always be honest with you,” he explains. If he could change anything about healthcare today, he would increase access for underserved populations.

When not caring for patients, Jordan Boynton can be found playing tennis, bicycling, or watching movies. He also enjoys editing photos and videos in photoshop.
