

“I have always believed to treat every patient like my own family member and to be respectful and empathetic towards them.”

About Shishir David, MD

Growing up, Dr. Shishir David noticed a lack of basic healthcare resources, which ignited his interest in pursuing medicine. His favorite part of his profession is gaining his patients’ trust, which he says “is the most rewarding feeling.” He explains, “I have always believed to treat every patient like my own family member and to be respectful and empathetic towards them.” He highly values patient education and strives to help them “feel at ease both emotionally and physically.” He adds, “You have to be patient, empathetic, and diligent while treating the elderly.”

In his free time, Dr. David loves traveling and trying new cafes with his wife. He also enjoys watching thriller movies and considers himself “a shopaholic.”
