“When we work together to get you to your health care goals, I believe that you can have a better life and you make me a better provider.”

About Amanda Thomas, MSN, NP

Amanda Thomas believes that healthcare should focus on “wellness instead of sickness.” She strives to “take care of the whole person, and not just their diagnoses.” She encourages patients to share their health concerns and goals. “When we work together to get you to your health care goals, I believe that you can have a better life and you make me a better provider,” she says. She especially loves caring for her senior patients. “I am most fulfilled by connecting with people on a deep level,” she adds.

Amanda Thomas previously worked as a travel nurse and has cared for people around the world. In her free time, she enjoys spending quality time with her family, friends, and two cats. She also likes cooking and attending live shows.
