About Anh Pham, MD, MPH

Dr. Anh Pham strives “to make my patients’ lives longer, healthier, and less stressful.” He explains, “I will show my patients sincere concern for their health and for them as an individual.” He particularly enjoys serving his senior patients. “Caring for the senior population is natural for me. It is just an extension of caring for my family,” he says. In his free time, Dr. Pham enjoys gardening, photography, and raising his Serama chickens.

For twenty-eight years, Dr. Pham served in the US Air Force, holding various medical positions, including family physician and Chief of Clinical Informatics. He was assigned to Japan, Republic of Korea, Washington DC, Falls Church Virginia, and San Antonio Texas.
