

“I enjoy being a consistent part of their healthcare journey, helping them manage their health, and watching them achieve their wellness goals.”

About Sam Chafin, MD

Dr. Sam Chafin appreciates the opportunity to have a positive impact on people’s lives as a physician. “I enjoy being a consistent part of their healthcare journey, helping them manage their health, and watching them achieve their wellness goals. The variety in each day and the ability to work with patients of all ages and backgrounds keeps the work both rewarding and engaging,” he explains. He prioritizes communication in his practice and wants patients to “feel heard, respected, and informed about their health.” He finds it particularly rewarding to enhance the quality of life of his senior patients.

Dr. Chafin enjoys barbecuing and playing chess in his down time. He also likes staying involved with the church.
