

“My goal is for every patient to feel like they have an advocate in their corner.”

About Wafah J. Kadhim, MD

Dr. Wafah J. Kadhim’s desire to help people live “fuller, healthier lives” led her to the medical field. “Working with seniors reminds me every day why this work matters,” she says. She likes involving the patient in “every decision about their care” to help build trust. “My goal is for every patient to feel like they have an advocate in their corner,” she explains. Prevention and communication are key in her practice. “Every person deserves not just more time, but more quality time, days filled with purpose, comfort, and independence,” she says.

In her free time, Dr. Kadhim can be found spending quality time with her family or engaging with her love for the arts. She especially enjoys drawing, oil painting, and photography.
