“I believe that listening to the patients and understanding their health goals can lead to a longer and healthier life.”

About Jennifer Elliott, MSN, APRN, FNP-C

In high school, Jennifer “Jen” Elliot worked as a candy striper, which fueled her desire to work in healthcare. She has always gravitated towards the senior population, recognizing the health barriers they face. She loves helping patients through education and active listening. “I believe that listening to the patients and understanding their health goals can lead to a longer and healthier life,” she says. She highly values trust and respect. “Together, we can build a plan of care that can improve their health and longevity,” she explains.

In her free time, Jen enjoys staying active through paddle boarding, hiking, and exercising. She also likes reading and exploring different countries and cultures.
