

“I fell in love with medicine and made it my mission to serve my community by become a physician.”

About Gary Eugene Michael, MD

As a young teen, Dr. Gary Michael’s mother suffered from a rupture of a cerebral Aneurysm. In the following months, he worked with her healthcare team to help her relearn how to read, write, and engage in her daily routine. “I fell in love with medicine and made it my mission to serve my community by become a physician,” he says. As a senior, he understands the obstacles surrounding care, explaining that he “wants to be an instrument to remove the barrier and bring to others the care they need and deserve.” He actively listens to patients, stressing “the value of knowing your patient and family well to help in a speedy and successful recovery.”

Gary enjoys working on home repair projects and cooking with family in his free time.
