A CHENMED COMPANY

“I understand that caring for senior patients requires a holistic, patient-centered approach that considers physical, emotional, social, and environmental factors.”

About Latanya Lawrence, MSN, BSN, RN, FNP-C

Latanya Lawrence cares deeply about all aspects of her patients' health and holds a genuine interest in their lives. She explains, “I understand that caring for senior patients requires a holistic, patient-centered approach that considers physical, emotional, social, and environmental factors.” She values open communication and shared decision-making, explaining that she always “respects their preferences.” She adds, “I find it fulfilling to help seniors maintain dignity and autonomy as they age.” She is committed to advocating for patients and helping them improve their symptoms and decrease hospitalizations.

In her down time, Latanya can be found reading, hiking, shopping, or enjoying quality time with her loved ones.
