A CHENMED COMPANY

“I was inspired to work with the senior population from a personal experience with my grandparents. Senior patients need our help in this stage of their life, where they have to face multiple challenges socially, economically, and emotionally.”

About Lizbeth Marie Fraticelli Rentero, MD

Dr. Lizbeth Marie Fraticelli Rentero was inspired to care for patients by her parents, who both worked in healthcare. She adds, “I was inspired to work with the senior population from a personal experience with my grandparents. Senior patients need our help in this stage of their life, where they have to face multiple challenges socially, economically, and emotionally.” She enjoys getting to know her patients as people, rather than only as patients. She loves advocating for patients and “making them feel like they are not alone.” She adds, “They should know that they will be treated like family, with the best attention and care.”

In her free time, Lizbeth enjoys playing tennis, running, going to the beach, and exploring new places.
