About Candace Polk, FNP-BC

Candace Polk holds herself to a high standard to ensure that she always gives 100% and provides care that is “knowledgeable, efficient, and compassionate.” She explains, “I aim to form a genuine and authentic connection so that patients are comfortable being themselves and are able to share openly and freely without feeling judged.” She particularly loves the opportunity to care for the senior population, not only to learn from their wisdom but also to address their “lack of accessibility to healthcare services.”

A self-described “homebody,” Candace loves relaxing with her family or doing crafts like crocheting in her down time. She also loves volunteering within her local community and learning new things.
