

Kathy Daniels, APRN

“If I can help someone during my lifetime, I feel my living will not be in vain.”

About Kathy Daniels, APRN

Kathy Daniels explains that her “caring spirit” led her to healthcare. She especially enjoys serving the senior population, explaining, “Seniors are a population that many overlook. They are important to our present and future.” She emphasizes the importance of detecting and addressing any abnormalities “before any conditions or illnesses occur.” She considers her relationship with patients to be that of “a team.” A proud veteran, Kathy served as a Medical Specialist in the U.S. Army Reserves for over eight years.

In her down time, Kathy enjoys fishing, traveling, and spending time with family. She also holds a strong faith in God. “If I can help someone during my lifetime, I feel my living will not be in vain,” she says.
