About Salwat Shami, M.B.B.S

Dr. Salwat Shami’s decision to pursue a career in medicine was driven by her desire to help people “improve their quality of life.” She is particularly passionate about caring for the elderly population. Dr. Shami takes pride in serving as both a “guide” and an “advocate” for her patients during their health journeys. She strives to treat all aspects of health, explaining that she is committed to “addressing their medical as well as their social issues.” Dr. Shami is also an advocate for frequent visits to ensure patients are receiving the best possible care.

When Dr. Shami is not caring for patients, she can be found enjoying quality time with her family. She also loves traveling and reading in her spare time.
