“I will always do what I think is best for my patients. If a patient disagrees, I encourage them to let me know since dialogue usually leads to positive outcomes.”

About Maina Njega Mungai, D.O.

Dr. Maina Njega Mungai strives to be “a source of hope, information, and inspiration” for his patients. “I chose to work in medicine because I enjoyed biology and chemistry and helping people came naturally to me,” he explains. He likes taking the time to get to know his patients and understand their health goals. “I will always do what I think is best for my patients. If a patient disagrees, I encourage them to let me know since dialogue usually leads to positive outcomes,” he explains. He adds that he hope to “enrich” his patients’ lives by “helping them see the possibility of recovery and rehabilitation.”

In his free time, Maina enjoys gardening, reading, watching sports, and study astronomy.
