“I would like my potential patients to know that I genuinely care, I’m a great listener, and together we make decisions that work best for you.”

About Karina Foots, MSN, NP

Karina Foots always knew she wanted to care for the senior population. “I would like my potential patients to know that I genuinely care, I’m a great listener, and together we make decisions that work best for you,” she says. She loves advocating for patients and finds it incredibly important to educate patients on their health and treatment. She strives to build strong relationships with patients through active listening and ensuring they “feel heard and understood.” She adds, “I follow through with what I say I’m going to do and show respct in their role with their own care.”

Karina loves spending her free time with her daughter and granny. She also enjoys taking fitness classes, cooking, and traveling.
