About Chad Wittekind, NP

Chad Wittekind discovered his calling in geriatric care after spending much of his career in the ICU. "I enjoy treating multiple, complex health conditions at the same time," he says. As a history enthusiast, Chad is genuinely captivated by the life experiences his senior patients bring. "From switchboard operators to WWII service members, I find that our patients exude a certain pride about their life's work." For Chad, being present and truly listening is at the heart of great care. "They have a wealth of wisdom to share — if people will only listen."

When not with patients, Chad enjoys woodworking, cooking dishes from around the world, spending time with his two young children, and cheering on his Carolina Panthers.
