

“They once took care of us; now it is our turn to provide them with the best medical care possible.”

About Amarilis Perez, MD

Dr. Amarilis Perez knew she wanted to be a doctor from the time she was just 5 years old. "The passion was active until the fruition of my dream," she says. Growing up in a family known for its longevity, Dr. Perez has always been surrounded by older adults — and that connection to seniors runs deep. "They once took care of us; now it is our turn to provide them with the best medical care possible," she says. For Dr. Perez, every patient is personal. "Each patient could be my mother, my father, my aunts and uncles — and therefore I feel the responsibility of being the best physician possible."

Dr. Perez builds relationships by showing up fully for her patients — listening wholeheartedly, meeting them exactly where they are, and empowering them with the knowledge to take better care of themselves. She is eager to build something meaningful with each new patient. "We are a team with the common goal of providing them with more good days," she says. "I can't wait to see what this journey holds — ready to create new memories and favorable outcomes."

Originally from the Dominican Republic, Dr. Perez is a proud mother of three. When not with patients, she enjoys spending time with family and friends, traveling — including trips to Spain, France, and the Dominican Republic — cheering on her son at travel soccer tournaments, and most importantly, spending time with the Lord.
