“I'm sincere, responsible, and professional.”

About Sue Ku, NP

ShuYu "Sue" Ku, NP was first drawn to medicine for her family — but her calling to care for the senior population came from something deeper. "Working with seniors is a calling from above, not my own choice," she says. Sue approaches every patient with active listening and sincere compassion, taking the time to truly understand their needs and concerns. Her goal is to empower her patients with the knowledge and confidence to take care of themselves — helping them pursue and enjoy more good days.

"I'm sincere, responsible, and professional," she says. "Although I'm not perfect, I'm willing to work with them together to make them healthier and happier."

When not with patients, Sue enjoys reading, devotion and meditation, and spending quality time with her husband. She has a love of sports and finds great joy in sharing the gospel and building others up.
