About Farheen Chowdhury, MD

Dr. Farheen Chowdhury known to her patients as "Dr. C" comes from a family of physicians, making medicine a natural calling. She chose to work with the senior population as a way to give back. "I want to honor the sacrifices and contributions seniors have made to our society and the generations that followed," she says. Dr. C builds relationships on a foundation of trust, honesty, and integrity — showing up for her patients no matter how complex their conditions may be.

Known for her detail-oriented approach, Dr. C takes time during visits to thoroughly explain the pathophysiology behind her patients' conditions, helping them better understand their treatment plans and the importance of medication compliance. Her genuine concern for her patients' overall well-being — physical, emotional, and beyond — drives everything she does. "It comes out of a place of genuine concern for their overall wellbeing," she says.

Fluent in Bengali, Urdu, and Hindi, with a working knowledge of Arabic, Dr. C is able to connect with and serve a richly diverse patient population.

When not with patients, Dr. C enjoys nature walks, lifting weights, listening to music, knitting, stitching, playing badminton, and reading. She also loves traveling with family and friends — always eager to explore new cultures, cuisines, and languages.
