“I'm your friend and advocate. I have the required training to meet your medical needs.”

About Prince Kubi, MD

Dr. Prince Appiah Kubi approaches medicine with a deep sense of purpose. "Doctors are the representatives of God on earth — taking care of humanity in their most vulnerable times," he says. He is especially drawn to patients who are 60 and older, recognizing the unique and complex needs that come with ageing and years of chronic disease. "Their unique circumstances require dedicated physicians motivated for that purpose," he says.

For Dr. Kubi, great care begins with listening. "Sometimes the solution to their presentation is hidden in the part of the conversation we did not hear," he says. He is a strong advocate for his patients, involving families and caretakers as active partners in care. His message to patients is simple and genuine: "I'm your friend and advocate. I have the required training to meet your medical needs."

When not with patients, Dr. Kubi enjoys watching soccer and tending to his backyard garden.
