“My goal is to partner with patients and families to support healthy aging, independence, and the best quality of life possible.”

About Michelle Hedrick, MSN, APRN, AG-PCNP

Michelle Hedrick is an Adult-Gerontology Nurse Practitioner with a lifelong passion for helping people feel heard, understood, and supported. While raising five children in Northwest Indiana, she built a rewarding nursing career at the University of Chicago CICU, Northwestern, and cardiac rehabilitation programs in Gary, Indiana — where she discovered her passion for helping others live healthier lives through education, prevention, and meaningful lifestyle changes.

Her dedication to helping patients remain safely at home led her to home health and the Medical Home Model of care. After years in education and corporate healthcare, Michelle returned to what she loved most — personal, one-on-one patient care. She graduated at the top of her class from Purdue University's Adult-Gerontology Nurse Practitioner program.

Now living in Pinellas County — a lifelong dream — Michelle believes every person has a unique story worth understanding. "My goal is to partner with patients and families to support healthy aging, independence, and the best quality of life possible," she says.

When not with patients, Michelle loves spending time with her adult children and grandchildren, exploring the Florida outdoors, and enjoying adventures with her Jeep friends.
