About Mechelle Caswell-Herrera, MSN, APRN, NP-C, FNP-BC

Mechelle Caswell was drawn to work with the senior population out of a genuine desire to help older adults maintain their health and independence. She believes that great care begins with trust — and trust begins with listening. "By treating each patient with compassion, respect, and genuine concern, I build relationships that help them feel comfortable, heard, and confident in their care," she says. For Mechelle, every patient deserves to be treated like family. "My goal is to make every visit a positive experience," she says. Knowing her patients feel heard and supported is the most rewarding part of her work.

When not with patients, Mechelle loves spending time with her five grandchildren and enjoying the outdoors — both of which help her recharge and maintain a healthy work-life balance.
