“I wanted to help and also give back.”

About Emmanuel Osakwe, MD, MPH

Dr. Emmanuel Osakwe — known warmly to his patients as "Dr. E" — was drawn to medicine by his own early experiences as a patient during childhood. "I wanted to help and also give back," he says. His dedication to the senior population is deeply personal. He was inspired by watching his father navigate the healthcare system both in the United States and in Nigeria. "I do this in honoring his memory," he says.

Dr. E builds relationships through warm welcomes, genuine encouragement, and celebrating every win — no matter how small. He believes that serving patients honestly and helping them do the things that matter most in their lives ultimately leads to happier, more productive lives. "I am happy when you are," he says.

Fluent in English, Igbo, and Hausa, Dr. E connects with a richly diverse patient population, ensuring every patient feels at home.

When not with patients, Dr. Osakwe enjoys soccer, traveling, and recharging with a good rest.
